FROM DEXTER.

THE CELEBRATION OF THE FOURTH.

DEXTER, July 8th, 1882.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

There was a celebration in this town on the 4th of July last past, the first that has been attempted here for half a dozen years or more, and notwithstanding the announcement publicly made that the 4th would skip the town, and notwithstanding the idea which seemed generally to prevail that the time had gone by when anything of this kind could be done at home, and that it would be the proper thing for everybody to leave town on this particular holiday, the celebration yet proved to be one of the most successful and satisfactory ever gotten up here, and was attended by one of the largest crowds of people ever drawn into Dexter on any previous occasion. And we wish to say here, before we forget it, that a more orderly and better behaved multitude ~~could not~~ be imagined. There was no disturbance whatever during the entire day.

The day's exercises opened at sunrise with the regular salute and ringing of bells, followed at 7 o'clock by the Fantastic Parade, which was decidedly the best ever seen here, being extensive and gotten up in fine style. We have not space to note the different features, but will say that the spread-eagle oration, by Dr. C. H. Haines, was by all odds ahead of anything of the kind ever done before, on a similar occasion. His make-up was immense, and the subject-matter of its delivery, just right. The vast concourse of people were put in the best of humor by the drolleries which they saw and heard. This parade was led by Mr. Ed. B. Fifield.

In the Grand Procession, the leading feature was the representation of the Goddess of Liberty and the thirteen original States, by young ladies in costume. A platform twelve feet by nine, was built upon a large wagon, and upon this another eight feet by six, and raised eight or nine inches; this was surmounted by a third, which was still smaller, and above the whole was placed a pedestal upon which stood the Goddess of Liberty, above whose head floated the Stars and Stripes. The whole car was draped with flags and red white and blue material. The thirteen young ladies were dressed in white, each wearing a crown with the name of one of the States, printed in gold. The Goddess was represented by Mrs. F. D. Meigs. This whole affair was arranged under the supervision of Misses Abbie and Olive Winslow, who have had much experience in such matters, and who are always called upon when anything of the kind is attempted in Dexter.

A delegation of the children of the public schools, who had been under the drill of the Misses Winslow, marched very well in sections of four. It did not, however, bespeak a great interest on the part of the parents that there were not at least twice as many scholars in the procession, particularly when it was thoroughly announced that the march would be short, and that the celebration was gotten up more on account of the children than anybody else.

A novel feature in the procession was a strong chorus of the best adult singers in the place, led by that veteran in vocal music, Mr. H. G. Mower. They rode in a large carriage that was secured specially for the purpose, and sang national airs while the procession was moving.

The Old Woman that lived in a Shoe was the favorite team with the young folks. A mammoth shoe was placed upon a platform, which was filled with "little tots," over whom the veritable old woman herself exercised a careful solicitude. It was well done, and made much fun.

The Eastern State Steam Printing Co., had one of their printing presses in operation upon a carriage arranged for the purpose, and drawn by six horses. They printed and circulated programmes of the day's exercises while passing through the principal streets of the town.

The exhibition of the Fire Department occurred on the sounding of a false alarm a little after eleven o'clock, and was the occasion of much excitement. Notwithstanding two of the engines and a hose carriage collided while turning the corner near Merchant's Exchange, one of the companies had a stream of water upon the old machine shop in a minute and three-quarters from the time the alarm was sounded. Dexter has a fire department of which it may well be proud, and it is now in full better condition than at any previous time. Chief Engineer Stearns has held his present position for more than three years, and he is a thorough fireman.

The Picnic Dinner was served at the grove, where tables were erected for the purpose. It was gotten up more particularly for the school children who had a part in the parade, and the musicians. The members of the fire department were invited here to partake of coffee after their exhibition. The tables were set under direction of Mrs. Mattie Sturtevant, and of course the work was done satisfactorily.

The Band was stationed at the grove a portion of the day, and rendered fine music.

The boat and tub races came off at two o'clock under direction of Mr. F. D. Meigs. These races were attended by no excitement. The sack and potato races occurred an hour later, near the Post Office, under direction of Mr. G. M. Sturtevant. The sack race went off quietly, but the potato race was quite hotly contested, and caused considerable excitement for a few minutes.

The baby show occurred at Town Hall, at four o'clock, under the supervision of Mr. Daniel Staples, eighteen of the little dears competing for the prizes. They were all handsome, healthy and smart, and it was a task of no small magnitude for the committee to make up a decision. It was at last decided, however, that Mrs. Julia Warton's baby should have the 1st prize, (10.00.) and Mrs. Haskell's baby the 2d, ($5.00.) Neither of them belong in Dexter, but there were some mighty fine babies on exhibition who did belong here nevertheless. After the exhibition of the babies, the programme was varied by Dr. C. H. Haines, who gave one of his character sketches in costume—"The Man of Many Ills," which put the audience in a roar of laughter.

The concert from the stand on Dustin's Hill, by Corinna Band, closed the out-door exercises of the day. This Band plays very finely, and their music all through the day was highly complimented. Mr. J. H. Steward, a prominent business man of Corinna, and a gentleman in every sense of the word, is leader of this Band, and has a deep interest in its success. The members are all steady men, and reflect credit upon themselves and the town where they live.

The performance in the evening by the Hanoverian Family was attended by a throng that completely filled the hall, which is always the case with any entertainment given here on the evening of the 4th of July, where there is a celebration during the day.

The duties of Chief Marshal for the day were performed in a very acceptable manner by Mr. Daniel Dolloff, Jr., ably assisted by Messrs. E. G. Libbey and G. M. Sturtevant, as Aides. ***

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

The little sufferers from Wednesday's explosion in Lewiston are more quiet. The Laughton child's condition remains precarious, and not much encouragement is given by his physician. The older Knowles boy's face is a raw mass, and there is fear his eyes may be lost.

There is a prospect of an important accession to Auburn's shoe business. Messrs. J. O. Foss & Sons wil probably start a shoe factory at an early day. They have had negotiations with both the Miller and Randall estate and with Mr. Peckard, and will probably purchase one of these factories. Mr. R. M. Mason will be associated with them.

Aroostook.

The Aroostook Times says that $60,000 in revenue were collected in the custom's district during the 12 months ending June 30th. The present official force of the district comprises the collector and five deputy collectors.

During the month of June, there were 15,141 dozen eggs shipped from Houlton by the American Express to Boston.

The Woodstock Sentinel says, since last week several attempts at burglary have been made at quite a number of residences in that town.

Cumberland.

One importing firm in Portland is now paying, at the Portland Custom House, a daily average of $5,000 in duties. As payment must be made in greenbacks, the banks are somewhat troubled to supply the demand. The aggregate receipts for duties at the Portland Custom House, in June, were $130,000, the largest amount received in any one month since 1868.—Bridgton News.

In Portland, Wednesday night, Officer Harris arrested Lizzie Williams, a young girl, for vagrancy, and Judge Knight sentenced her to sixty days in the House of Correction. Upon the solicitation of some philanthropic people the sentence was revoked and a fine imposed, which was paid. But a few hours afterward Lizzie was again arrested for larceny, and the Judge sentenced her to sixty days in jail.

July 4th, after the funeral procession accompanying the remains of Mrs. Robert P. Carr to the grave was returning from the cemetery, a horse driven by Mr. S. W. Carr was frightened and threw out the occupants of the carriage, Mr. and Mrs. Carr, the latter suffering considerable injury. At the house a lady fell down stairs and was injured, to what extent we cannot learn.—Brunswick Telegraph.

One of the sail makers of Portland, has been some time in rigging a schooner about 4½ feet tall and 1 feet long. Wednesday she was carried down on the Minnehaha to Peaks' Island where she was sailed.

Lewis' fish market on Federal St., Portland, displayed a horse mackerel, on Thursday, that weighed 550 pounds. It was named Jumbo, of course.

Dyer & Libby, of Portland, have invented a fish cleaning machine. The invention is a set of Russian bristle brushes, set in a peculiar position and rotated by steam. With one of these simple machines the work of five hands in the old way, is done in the same length of time and done much better. About 50 mackerel per minute can be dressed by this machine.

The Press says, July Fourth, little Clarence Bertie Hunnewell, a boy of nine years, of Portland, was firing off fire crackers when he lighted one which did not seem to go off. He held it up to see the reason, when it exploded and the burning powder was blown into one of his eyes. The little fellow was terribly burnt, but after an operation the doctor succeeded in saving the sight.

The Bridgton News says, on Wednesday, June 28th, a daughter of Henry Meserve, of East Otisfield, aged about 16 years, was burned to death by her clothing taking fire when she was alone. Her clothing was nearly consumed before help arrived.

Lake & F. H. Brown's bedstead factory at No. Bridgton, turns out fifty bedsteads per day.

They are hauled from Dennysville and put into the boats in Pembroke in bulk, taken to Eastport, and sell for $1.50 per barrel. The alewives are again salted and packed in barrels and shipped to New York, where they sell for about $3.50. They are mostly shipped from there to the South and to the West Indies.

PROFESSION AND PRACTICE—A ROARING FARCE

The so-called Greenback Congressional Convention of the First Maine District, at Portland, last Thursday, solemnly and enthusiastically adopted the principles of the Greenback State Convention, declaring

"That we believe the NATIONAL BANK SYSTEM is one of deadly hostility to the best interests of the country dangerous to our Republican institutions and the liberties of the people."

"No banks of issue State or National, with their lightning power."

And then they proceeded to nominate as their candidate for Congress the President of the Ocean National Bank of Kennebunk, and the Treasurer of the Kennebunk Saving Bank an auxiliary "bond holding" institution

How Mr. Dane must chuckle over that Greenback platform as he sits in his bank parlor "clipping coupons" and loaning national bank notes at a good fat discount

Query Is there any coincidence between Gen Anderson's complaint of the lack of party funds and the selection of a wealthy national bank stockholder in his place as a candidate?

A SQUARE CONFESSION

We were taught to stand by truth and justice if "niggers'" rights were involved, and we intend to do it. No consideration could induce us to say what the plausible putter Hooker recently said in Congress, that there had been no fraud, no violence, and no questionable methods in Mississippi politics — Vicksburg (Miss) Herald (Dem)

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

CONGRESSMAN HUBBELL'S REPLY TO GEO. WILLIAM CURTIS

Representative Hubbell, of Michigan, the Chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, has written the following letter to George William Curtis, of New York

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, WASHINGTON, July 6, 1882.

Sir I have received your letter of the 24th inst and that of your lawyer's of the same date A few words will make the only reply which I think they require You continue to assert that the circular signed by me "virtually threatens" with dismissal the officers and employes to whom it is addressed, should they not surrender part of their wages There is no excuse for such misrepresentation The phraseology of the circular shows an absolute absence of all language of threat. It also affirmatively shows that the request is for a voluntary contribution Your misrepresentation is therefore without justification of the circular It is equally without justification in the purpose of it That is proved by the fact that although like circulars have been issued bi annually for at least sixteen years by Republican Congressional Committees and many persons have refused to respond to them there has never been a single removal from office or employment for that cause It is not in your power, therefore to put your finger upon a single fact either of statement or result, which justifies your representations Besides, you have the explicit denial of Senators and Representatives, members of that committee, of any purpose of threat or coercion Notwithstanding these proofs you persist in speaking of it as a "virtual threat" To say that it is deeply discreditable to you is to use mild language The other accusation is that the circular is an invitation to the commission of what is made a crime by section 6 of the act of the 15th of August, 1876 As a matter of law this is absurd There is no difficulty in this point as your lawyers will find out in due time if they have not already. The law does not apply to members of Congress in any of its terms, but it is confined in all its parts to executive officers and employes This, its language shows, and all the circumstances surrounding it prove your construction involves the absurdity that members of Congress are executive officers and the further absurdity that it is a crime for a man holding an office freely to contribute of his funds to a political committee Of course, according to your notion a simple citizen may so contribute of his funds as of right, but a citizen becoming an official loses the right to help the organization whose principles he may approve and whose policy he may deem essential to the prosperity of the people.

In other words under cover of protecting the official you degrade him, you ask me to unite with you in starting an experimental criminal prosecution against an officer or employe in New York for having complied with my request for aid for the Republican canvass I will not do this for several reasons It would be an act of dishonor in me to so turn upon any Republican official who thus contributed, besides it is needless as a means of testing the sense of said section 6 In my opinion neither the Attorney General of the United States nor the District Attorney require instruction either from you or myself as to the meaning of laws or their duties in prosecutions for violation of them and I therefore leave the subject with them, you having declined to unite in making a case against me as being the party equally responsible with any contributor. As for myself Mr Curtis, it is only due to candor to say that as long as the records of Congress show throughout all the Gulf States the systematic use of tissue ballots for purposes of fraud, the systematic throwing out of the ballots cast and the insertion of ballots not cast, the systematic defeat of the exercise of the right of suffrage, and every conceivable violation of law for the purpose of thwarting the expression of popular will, and so long as it be proved impossible to have a fair election and honest count in any portion of this country, I propose to help maintain a Republican organization which shall be strong enough to prevent these outrages, or, when their commission cannot be prevented, to punish the criminals, and to that end I propose to ask all good citizens, office-holders or otherwise, to supply the Congressional Committee with the necessary means for smiting this crime against our common liberty. To the extent that you in the role you are now playing may succeed in crippling the operations of this committee, you will become a most efficient ally of the Southern bulldozer and a most powerful promoter of their invidious and destructive methods, and there I leave you.

Very respectfully,
JAY A. HUBBELL.

Secretary Chandler is a disciplinarian While he is in charge of the Navy Department he means to be at the head of it, and to be recognized as such. He has lately reminded Commander Gorringe that he has authority and means to exercise it. That meritorious officer has written considerably for the press of late concerning the administration of the Navy, the usefulness and management of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and other like subjects, and Mr. Chandler has suggested to him that if he has anything of interest and importance to say on these topics it would be well to communicate it to the Department.—Worcester Spy.

MR. THING CALLED TO EXPLAIN.

The Greenbackers of this district are anxious to have Mr. D. H. Thing, candidate for Congress, define his position and let us know where he stands. At the county convention held in Gardiner, June 28th, 1879, when Mr. Thing was nominated as a candidate for Senator, he made the statement in my presence that he was a Greenbacker and opposed to the old Democratic party. Yet at a Democratic convention June 27th, 1882, D. H. Thing (I am pretty sure he is the same man), was nominated as a Democratic candidate for Congress; and what is more surprising, this same Mr. Thing was indorsed as a Greenbacker at a Greenback district convention held at Lewiston June 30, 1882 Now will Mr. Thing define his position one way or the other, and settle the minds of many puzzled Greenbackers in this district? It was well understood that Hon. C A. White, of Gardiner, was to be nominated by the Greenbackers for Congress, and, knowing this to be a fact and that Mr. White could not be handled, some of the would-be Democratic leaders, at their caucus in this city, passed a resolution advising Thing's nomination at their convention, and as I am informed that the nomination of Mr Thing in place of Mr. White was dictated by a certain party whose name I will not mention at present, but will let the Greenbackers know more about as soon as Mr. Thing defines his position. If, as stated, the nomination of Mr. Thing was dictated in place of Mr. White, it is time for the Greenbackers to know all the facts and vote accordingly.

J. J. MAHER,

AUGUSTA, July 5, 1882.

GENERAL SKOBELEFF

The death of General Skobeleff, Friday, removes one of the most striking figures from the stage of European politics. During years of faithful service to the State he obtained a high reputation as a brave, energetic and far sighted soldier, and his name is honorably associated with many of the most brilliant feats of the Russian arms. He was essentially the head of the party which, in its hatred for Germans and Germany, and its desire for the consolidation and extension of the Sclavonic power, merges at once old Russia and young Russia in the national movement. His celebrated speech to the Servian students sounded a challenge which moved even Bismarck to anger and trepidation, and for awhile threatened seriously the peace of Europe

An admirable glimpse of the private character of this great soldier, was given some months ago by the Paris correspondent of the Boston Herald, who wrote It is not yet forgotten in the United States that, when poor MacGahan, the famous American correspondent who, in company with Frank Millet, a Boston boy, did so much work, for which Forbes got all the praise—was dying with the black fever in Constantinople, Skobeleff was the only man who dared to visit him But the famous soldier and the modest journalist were great friends, and, when the former heard one day, when the Russian army was camped on the banks of the Bosphorus, that the latter was very ill, he galloped into the Turkish capital, and, throwing himself from his horse in front of a hotel rushed into the place, demanding to be shown to MacGahan's room. The nurses told the General that no one was permitted to enter the sick man's room, as it was certain death to a stranger if he breathed the atmosphere poisoned by the dread disease. But Skobeleff dashed the men out of his way, and was soon at MacGahan's bedside. Then he took the poor sufferer up in his arms, and, as he kissed the fevered face and the sunken eyes, he said as kindly as ever a fond mother spoke to her babe: 'My dear, dear brother, did you think I had forgotten you altogether? Why, bless your dear, great heart, I did not know until to-day that you were sick" While his loving tears were bathing MacGahan's hair, the angel of death came into the room and suddenly and silently the soul of one who was always gentle, good and brave took its flight, and the famous Russian soldier held in his arms the lifeless form of his much beloved friend.

Is it not a charming evidence of the immaculate honesty and christian sincerity of the Greenback party when its convention unanimously nominates the President of a national bank for Congress, in the person of Joseph Dane. How bitterly opposed to National banks, Greenbackers are And the President of a National bank, as their candidate for Congress, too. It is true the Greenbackers in this part of the State had no voice in the selection of that candidate, how do they like having such a selection made for them Are they going to vote that ticket?—Bath Times

The boldness of the scheme by which the South Carolina Bourbons expect to elect six of the seven Congressmen from that State can be estimated when it is known that even their organ admits that there are 604,332 colored voters to 391,105 white voters

The Lewiston Journal and other Republican papers in Maine regard the nomination of Mr. Dane for Congress as a virtual confession that such leading Democrats as Messrs Anderson, Cleaves, Adams, Davis, etc, regard the defeat of the Fusion ticket as inevitable. It has that appearance—Boston Journal.

One of the most interesting revelations the census of 1880 will make will be that in relation to the growth of the Territory of New Mexico The most reliable statistics at hand place the population of this immense Territory, embracing an area of 121,000 square miles, at only 100,000 people, of which 50,000 are Mexicans, 25,000 are Indians, and 25 000 Americans. This was the census taken just as the railroads entered the Territory. They have done wonders for it.

The longest line of fence in the world will be a wire fence extending from the Indian Territory west across the Texas Panhandle, and thirty-five miles into New Mexico. Eighty-five miles of this fence is already under contract. Its course will be in the line of the Canadian river, and its purpose is to stop the drift of Northern cattle. The fence will be over two hundred miles long.

It is stated that the Chilians are dividing their acquisitions from Peru with the English claimants on Peru, half and half. The Rothschilds are understood to be largely interested in the divide. The son of the Rothschilds agent in this country, Belmont, is a Representative in Congress, and he very naturally attacks Messrs. Blaine and Evarts, the Secretaries of State who presumed to ask a hearing in South America for a claimant who is a citizen of the United States.—Boston Journal.

BOWDOIN COLLEGE.

Commencement Week.

BRUNSWICK, July 10. The annual prize exhibition of the Junior class took place in the Congregational church this evening. Excellent music was furnished by Grimmer's Orchestra of Portland.

The prizes will be announced. To-morrow is class day. The oration and poem will be delivered in the church in the morning, and the exercises under the Thorndike Oak will take place at three in the afternoon, consisting of an address, chronicles, prophecy and parting ceremonies. There will be an illumination and dance on the green at 8:30 in the evening.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS--First Session

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 10. The Finance Committee reported amendments to the House bill reducing the internal revenue tax. They repeal, after the first of next October, the additional duty imposed in 1875 of 25 per cent. on all molasses and on sugar according to the Dutch standard in color imported from foreign countries, fix the duties on steel railway bars at $20 per ton, and make the duties upon hoop, band or scrap iron the same as those imposed upon material from which they are made. Mr. Bayard remarked that the amendments had not been reported by a unanimous vote; ordered printed.

After debate Mr. Ransom's amendment appropriating $500,000 for reclamation of the Potomac flats was adopted. Mr. Allison presented a conference report on the Bank Charter bill which was ordered printed and laid over till to-morrow. Mr. Harrison's amendment to the pending bill authorizing the expenditure of $20,000 in completing the surveys of the ship canal to connect Chesapeake and Delaware bays was adopted and the Senate adjourned.

House.

Mr. Crapo, of Mass., submitted a conference report on the bill to enable national banking associations to extend their corporate existence. In the course of a brief explanatory discussion Mr. Randall, of Va., criticised the provision that the Secretary of the Treasury shall suspend the issue of gold certificates whenever the amount of gold bullion in the Treasury reserved for the redemption of U. S. notes falls below $100,000,000. He asked that the bill be recommitted to have it drafted in better form. Mr. Crapo declined to yield and the conference report was agreed to—yeas, 108; nays, 79.

A bill was passed authorizing the transfer of the property of the National Soldiers and Sailors' Orphans' Home to the Garfield Memorial Hospital. Mr. White introduced a joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment prohibiting the abridgment of the rights of the citizens of the United States, on account of sex. The House then went into a Committee on the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill.

After completing the consideration of 59 of the 85 pages of the bill, the Committee rose. Mr. Dingley introduced a bill for the appointment of a commission to inquire into the condition of ship building and ship owning interests, and to suggest methods to restore the foreign carrying trade to the United States; referred.

Adjourned.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Prison Revolt About Over.

CONCORD, July 10. Last night was as orderly as could be desired at the State prison, and there is no doubt of Warden Earle's wisdom in addressing his men yesterday, or that the backbone of the insubordination has been broken. Bread and water were served again this forenoon, and this afternoon for the first time in several days a dinner will be furnished the convicts. The shops are not opened yet; the men whose stubbornness and endurance has been remarkable are yielding daily and many regret their rebellious actions. All sorts of opinions are held among the convicts regarding the orders depriving them of yard recreation on future holidays, and much regret is expressed at the decision. About 50 offenders are now waiting punishment in the strong room and they will receive it as soon as those already there have received punishment for their insubordination.

OUR NAVY YARDS.

An Indignation Meeting.

PORTSMOUTH, July 10. A meeting of indignation and alarm at the provision in the naval appropriation bill virtually placing the navy yards at the mercy of contractors was held this evening. Citizens were present from Elliot, York, Kittery and other places on both sides of river. Mayor Sise presided and spirited addresses were made by Hon. W. H. Hackett, ex-Mayor Marvin, Hon. James W. Emery, Collector Howard and others. The resolutions, which express the general sentiment of the meeting, set forth the natural advantages of the Portsmouth yard and assert the superiority of Eastern mechanics in the art of ship building, deplore the system which seeks to place the navy department in the control of contractors for means of doing the labor which the United States should be abundantly able to perform, declare that a more economical and judicious outlay can be made for the Government in repairing and building ships in a locality where trade unions do not control labor and strikes were never known, and that skilled mechanics are here always at command.

They favor sending a delegation to Washington to urge a consideration upon Congress of the advantages of this station and to have abrogated that provision of the law which will allow the Secretary of the Navy to close the yards, and give reasons for such action to Congress afterward, and applauding the efforts of Representative Bowman, in Congress, in advocating the maintenance of navy yards as opposed to the contract system. A delegation consisting of Frank Jones, James W. Emery, Mark F. Wentworth, Col. Elbridge G. Pierce, Collector Howard and Col. W. H. Hackett were appointed to proceed to Washington for the purposes mentioned in the resolutions.

CONNECTICUT.

Three Hundred Men Strike.

NEW HAVEN, July 10. Three hundred hands in the wire mill struck to-day owing to a notice that hereafter payments will be made fortnightly instead of weekly.

ARKANSAS.

Desperate Murderers.

CHICAGO, July 10. Sevier County, Arkansas, was the scene of a tragedy recently which resulted in the death of a guest at the hands of George and West McCraven, they killing him for money. In arresting the murderers the constable was accidentally killed by one of the arresting party and Geo. McCraven was shot dead by a deputy.

EGYPT.

LONDON, July 10. The Times says, Admiral Seymour will, this morning, demand a temporary surrender of the ports of Alexandria for the purpose of disarmament, under threat of bombardment in 24 hours.

The Times Calcutta correspondent says the government of India has received orders to despatch its contingent force to Egypt, under Sir Herbert MacPherson, who commanded a brigade in the Afghan war. A large sized train is preparing at Agra and Bombay Arsenal.

A special from Alexandria says the English ultimatum was delivered at 9 this morning, so that the bombardment will commence at the same hour tomorrow morning. All foreign men of war except the British are leaving the harbor.

Mr. Cartwright, acting British consul here, has written a letter to Ragheb Pasha, president of the Egyptian ministry, announcing the suspension of relations with the Egyptian government, and another letter to Dervisch Pasha, the Turkish commissioner, declaring he will be held responsible for the safety of the Khedive.

The French fleet will not participate in the bombardment. The Eastern Telegraph Company gives notice that all commercial messages will be stopped during the arrangements of transferring its office to ship-board. The ships having on board the officials of the Ottoman bank, the Credit Lyonaise etc., etc., have already left. The 24 hours' notice expires at four to-morrow morning, when the bombardment will commence. Admiral Seymour, yesterday summoned his captains aboard the flag ship and settled details of the bombardment.

The telegraph is now working from a ship moored some miles from Alexandria, communication with the port being maintained by despatch boats.

ALEXANDRIA, July 10. Notice of the bombardment of Alexandria was given this morning, by a letter addressed to the Governor by Admiral Seymour.

PARIS, July 10. The announcement is made, semi-officially, that the French fleet will go to Port Saldinacrodance with an understanding with Admiral Seymour.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 10. The Turkish Admiralty has warned crews of Turkish iron clads to be in readiness.

Off for Alexandria.

BRINDISI, July 10. Rear Admiral Hoskins, junior naval lord, who goes to Egypt to act as second in command of the naval operations has sailed, with several other officers, for Alexandria.

Despatch from Admiral Nicholson to Secretary Chandler.

WASHINGTON, July 10. Secretary Chandler this morning received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Nicholson, commanding the European station, now at Alexandria with flagship Lancaster, stating that hostilities between England and Egypt are likely to begin to-day; he also acknowledge the receipt of Chandler's despatch directing that the vessels of our European squadron shall proceed to Alexandria for the protection of American interests.

Report Confirmed.

LONDON, July 10. In the House of Lords, this afternoon, Granville, the Foreign Secretary, confirmed the news that unless the Alexandria forts were temporarily surrendered Admiral Seymour would bombard them at daybreak to-morrow. It was painful, he said, to be obliged to use force against the weak, but the hostile preparations had been proceeding in defiance of the orders both of the Khedive and Sultan. The action now taken was in simple defence. In Commons, Dilke, Under Foreign Secretary, made a statement similar to that of Granville. It was received with cheers.

A Compromise Rejected.

ALEXANDRIA, July 10. It is believed the Government of Alexandria has proposed a compromise, but Admiral Seymour will not accept any terms short of a complete surrender of the forts. The British ships have cleared for action. The Monarch and Invincible are lying in the harbor and the rest of the ships are outside. Foreign Consuls, except the British, have protested against the bombardment. All foreign men-of-war with the exception of the English are lying outside the harbor. The French squadron sailed at sunset, leaving behind only the Alma and Hirondelle.

Arabi Pasha says he will not Yield.

LONDON, July 10. The Daily News has the following: Arabi Pasha has again declared that he will not yield an inch. A perfect panic prevails among the Arabs.

The Conference.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 10. The conference will probably not sit until affairs in Alexandria are more settled. Ambassadors generally consider the action of England in regard to Alexandria perfectly legitimate.

Trying to Secure the Entrance of the Porte in the Conference.

The Vakit (Turkish newspaper) states that representatives of the Powers have requested General Wallace to use his efforts as minister of a neutral power to negotiate for the entrance of the Porte into the conference, but the Washington Cabinet has ordered Wallace not to discuss questions of purely European diplomacy.

The People Panic Stricken.

LONDON, July 10. The Telegraph has the following from Alexandria: Admiral Seymour declines to allow newspaper correspondents to go aboard his war ships. I shall be able to take refuge on board an American ship. The men belonging to the Monarch have just fitted iron shields on the tops for placing machine guns there The English refuge ships have left the harbor, and the telegraph ship Chiltern is also outside, but the American vessels remain here for the time. The Egyptians are still working on the forts. They can just be seen from the deck of the American ship. According to reports received from shore the people are fleeing in every direction and there is great panic.

The Egyptian's Determined to Fight

LONDON, July 10. The Standard has the following despatch from Alexandria: Save the somewhat numerous colony of Italians and Greeks, Europeans have quitted the city. Those who remain have barricaded their houses. No reply from the ministry to Admiral Seymour was received up to 5 o'clock this evening. It seems their determination to fight. Bodies of troops can be seen moving about. The military say they will defend the forts to the last and then retire into the interior where preparations for resistance will be complete. The forts will probably be engaged at close quarters and the vessels keep moving during the action. The Khedive has sent his family to his country palace.

The Bombardment Commenced.

LONDON, July 11—6 A. M. The correspondent of the Reuters Telegram Company, on board the Bittern, telegraphs the following:

"Alexandria, July 11—7 A. M. Bombardment has commenced."

OHIO.

Serious Damage Caused by Rain.

LEBANON, July 10. A very heavy rainfall this afternoon raised Turtle creek to an unprecedented height. The reservoir of the Hydraulic works broke its banks and the lower portion of the city was inundated. Several small houses and stables were carried away and all bridges in that part of the city were washed out, including the railroad bridge. The gasometer was also washed away. Loss, variously estimated, from $50,000 to $100,000.

THE INDIANS.

An Engagement.

TUCSON, A. T., July 10. The Stars' St. Thomas special says a courier arrived from McMillan sends despatches announcing on the 7th that forty Apache bucks attacked the town, but were repulsed after a hard fight by the citizens. The fight lasted half an hour, during which the Indians tried to set fire to several buildings without success. One white man was wounded. The Indian casualties not known.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

The Star Route Cases.

WASHINGTON, July 10. In accordance with a special order by Judge Wylie on Friday, seventeen members of the Grand Jury assembled in the Criminal Court room this morning to consider new evidence to be presented to them in the Star Route cases. There were six absentees and the marshal was directed to summon a sufficient number to complete the panel, pending which the jury was dismissed until twelve o'clock. The Court then resumed the consideration of the Star Route cases, and Mr. Ketchum was recalled and questioned by the prosecution. Judge Wylie announced that as the Government was not prepared to go before the Grand Jury to-day he would dismiss that body until Wednesday morning. The prosecution then took up route No. 40,104 and heard testimony relative thereto.

GEORGIA.

A Foolish Quarrel.

TOCOI, July 10. Thomas Mosby, son of Senator Mosby, and John Marona, quarrelled about the playing of some children in front of Marona's residence this morning. Each drew a revolver and commenced firing and Marona was shot dead; Mosby fled.

PENNSYLVANIA.

River Poisoned.

PHILADELPHIA, July 10. Much excitement prevails along the Schuylkill river between this city and Reading over the mysterious poisoning of the river. It is conjectured the cause is that the river became overcharged with sulphurous acid from the abandoned mines, which are being pumped out. Thousands of dead fish have been washed ashore and the stench arising from them is most sickening.

FRIENDLY ISLANDS.

Visited by a Terrible Hurricane.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. A terrible tornado visited Friendly Islands, April 25th. At Von Vou, the bark Don Guillermo, Capt. Johnston, went down at anchor, and the captain, officers, and seamen were lost with her; five boys were saved. The hurricane was accompanied by a tidal wave fifteen feet high, which swept over the Island, and did terrible damage. All the natives houses any many Europeans were carried away. Cocoanut trees snapped off like pipe stems, and the Island presents a scene of widespread desolation. At Tongatea the wind destroyed two thousand houses.

A TRAVELER'S STORY.

After spending months at watering places and consulting the best physicians without benefit, I returned home disheartened and expected to die. A friend urged a trial of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Three bottles and careful diet have brought me excellent health and spirits, and I hope my experience may benefit sufferers.—Cincinnati lady. See other column.

THE PUSHAW AFFRAY. Crowley, whose drunken exploits at Pushaw on Sunday afternoon created considerable excitement in that vicinity, was found by the police at his Bangor home yesterday morning. He was not in condition to be taken to the police court yesterday, but his trial will come off this afternoon. Crowley shows the effects of a sound thrashing and it is evident that he got badly worsted in his assault on Capt. Burgess.

FIRE IN COTTAGEVILLE. A fire occurred early yesterday afternoon in Cottageville. An alarm was sounded in the city and the department turned out. The fire was discovered to be on Kossuth street at the residence of James Grant. The fire originated around the ell and that portion of the building was considerably damaged. A large amount of water was poured on the flames before the fire was extinguished. The insurance of $1,000 will probably cover the loss.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION. The barbers of this city are once more agitating the question of closing their establishments on Sunday and doing no shaving during that day. It will be remembered that this matter has come up in past years and been given considerable consideration. A majority of the barbers at present seem to be earnest in advocacy of the movement, although some opposition is met with. This subject is at present uppermost in the minds of the Bangor tonsorial artists.

After the installation remarks were made by various persons, after which a supper was served in Johnson's Hall. A large number of invited guests were present.

A YOUNG SMOKER. The Portland Globe says: "The youngest smoker in Portland resides on Cumberland street. At least that is the opinion of persons who saw a boy about three years old sitting in a doorway with a middle aged man Tuesday. The man was smoking an aged and very strong T. D. and the youngster was eating bread and molasses. Without saying a word the man passed the pipe to his companion who at once laid down his bread, took the pipe and after a few pulls which a veteran might envy, passed it back to the man, who continued smoking, while the boy picked up his bread and went on eating as before. During this singular proceeding not a word was spoken by either of the participants, nor did the precocious "Little Breeches" seem in the least disturbed by his mixed diet.

ENTERTAINMENT AT MACWOHOC. A correspondent writes: There was a large attendance at the sociable held in Libbey's Hall, Macwohoc, on Friday evening, the 7th inst., which was most successfully conducted. First on the programme was a violin solo by Mr. Butterfield, which was well played. Then came a song and chorus, Mrs. Libby taking the solo parts in fine style. Miss Fannie Perry and Lottie Coburn next made their appearance in a dialogue which was very laughable and met with a round of applause. One of the pleasing features of the entertainment was the solos sung by the Misses Johnson & Piper, of Lincoln, both pieces being sung charmingly. Miss James, who was in good voice, sung most feelingly, meriting the handsome bouquet that was presented to her. A solo by Capt. C. C. Perry followed and was sung with excellent effect, and a quartette composed of the Mrs. Libbeys, Miss James and Capt. Perry, brought the musical part of the entertainment to a close. The accompaniments were played by Mrs. F. Libbey and Miss Piper. Then followed an excellent supper and various games that afforded great amusement. The proceeds, amounting to $34, are for a charitable purpose.

WEST WATERVILLE ITEMS. Our West Waterville correspondent writes: The town recently voted to exempt from taxation for the term of ten years all capital invested in woolen manufacturing above the sum of $10,000, and such an industry will soon be started here on the site purchased of the Dunn Edge Tool Company. Tenement houses will be erected this season, and altogether it looks as though, in the long run, the town would be benefitted materially.——Miss Helen M. Folger, our most prominent singer, is instructing a class of ladies and gentlemen in voice culture. No one in this section is better qualified to teach this delicate and important art than Miss Folger, as she herself was for several years a pupil at one of the best music schools in this country, the New England Conservatory, Boston.——The Baptist Society is about to repair their church. They will also build a vestry. The work will be begun at once.——Farmers are generally beginning haying to-day (10th). The crop is fully an average one in quantity and also in quality.——Several of our salt water people have gone to their usual summer resorts. Others will follow later in the season.——Politics don't "boom" any to speak of as yet. Unless the signs are at fault, however, the "boom" will arrive in due time and will not be mistaken for anything else, either. G.

The excursion season is upon us and the various societies are having their annual excursions down the river and bay.

Thompson & Kellogg have strawberries at retail and wholesale.

C. S. Downes, of Brewer, offers for sale, exchange or rent two good houses in Brewer.

Moulton Notes.

The hay crop promises finely and if the weather for curing it proves good the income from hay this year must be exceptionally large.

Potatoes and grain are backward, owing to the cold and wet of June, yet there is, so far, no cause for alarm as to the hay vest. The ravages of the potato beetle are, up to this date, much less than usual.

The safe of the First National Bank is now nearly completed and the building being otherwise ready for occupancy, business will soon be opened.

The great improvement in the matter of trains and mails is warmly appreciated throughout Aroostook. We read our daily WHIG at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, by the night mail. All our Bangor correspondence, sorted there up to 7 P. M., is in our hands at 7 A. M. next day.

In all this our railroad men have found an excellent co-worker in Superintendent Cram, whose intelligent, enterprising and progressive policy is felt not only upon his own important and ably managed line, but influences, favorably, all the connecting roads. N.

The Coming Attraction.

The Great Barnum and London Show is nearing Bangor and will exhibit in our city on Saturday next. The Boston Traveller thus speaks of this gigantic exhibition:

Mr. Barnum himself had said it; namely, that this is the greatest effort of his life, and that it has produced the greatest show on earth. Perhaps it should be said the greatest shows; for there are at least half a dozen features about this big concern which would by themselves prove meritorious and attractive entertainments. Such, for example, is Jumbo, who alone would draw a crowded tent at any time under any circumstances; the menagerie, containing other elephants, including the famous "Queen" and the baby "Bridgeport," and all other known beasts of land and water, reptiles from the swamp and rare birds of the air; the museum of curiosities and monstrosities, animal, vegetable, and human; each of the three rings of the circus, the Roman Hippodrome, etc. In fact, it is a combination of shows made by the consolidation of Messrs. Barnum's Bailey & Hutchinson's, and the London circuses.

Jumbo is very condescending. He extends his trunk affably toward you for a bun or apple, or even a peanut, which he tucks away in the aperture under his nose, called a mouth, continually. He is very industrious in this way, never ceasing the movement of his food conveyor so long as there is anything in sight to reach after. In this way went biscuits, apples, candy, etc., proffered by boys and benevolent elderly gentlemen in countless numbers, and when there was the least lull the enormous glutton began upon the straw and hay at his feet. Among other things not greatly to his credit, Jum has the reputation of being an incorrigible thief. One gentleman who had bought a pint or more of peanuts and placed them in his pocket turned just in time to see them going down the mammoth's throat cavern, paper bag and all. It was quite diverting to see him wink or close his eyes on the reception in his tooth of a sweetmeat or the like. He appeared to be in a sort of ecstasy at such times, and ready to announce his gratitude, if possible, after the manner of Charles Dickens when first imbibing a sherry cobbler in this country.

Whatever truth there may or may not be in relation to his drinking habits, he was perfectly sober, and behaved in a dignified though ponderous manner. The circus performances were opened by a grand procession around the course, which encircles the three performing rings, of elephants, thoroughbred led horses, chariots, and a cavalcade of gorgeously-costumed ladies and gentlemen, all finely mounted. First came the band, marching on foot, followed by the cavalcade, and then the elephants. The foremost of the latter was little "Bridgeport," some three months old only, followed by his mother "Queen," who was in turn followed by Jumbo. Bridgeport walked forward, with a quick, bustling sort of a step, which strongly reminded one of a busy politician or man of affairs at a convention. Queen was more reserved; while Jumbo took about one stride to the others' two or three in keeping up with the procession. Among others may be mentioned the Roman catapult which hurls a man one hundred and fifty feet through the air to be caught by a netting in his fall; the woman fired from the cannon; the splendid riding of Mme. Dockrill; the graceful tight-rope walking and dancing of Miss Eva Walker, the fearless acrobatic doings, the hurdle and chariot races, and others.

Decision in Law.

The following decision in law has been received by Ruel Smith, Esq., Clerk of the Eastern Law District:

PENOBSCOT COUNTY CASE.

Inh. of Greenfield vs. Inh. of Camden. "Action to stand for trial."

Rescript—In settlement cases, evidence of the declarations of a deceased person is admissible to show when, but not where, such person was born.

The recital in an ancient deed that the grantor was of a certain place, is competent evidence of his residence in such place at the date of the deed. It is an act done ante litem motam, a part of the res gestae, the actors in which are dead.

In a pauper suit, the ancient books of records belonging to a town which is a party to the litigation, reciting facts bearing upon the residence of the pauper's ancestor in such town, although the books are not kept with technical accuracy, are competent evidence of the facts recited; they are a part of the res gestae, and partake of the character of declarations made by the town.

Where it is shown that a person was residing at a certain place at a certain time, the ordinary presumption is that such residence was a continuing residence. For what period of time such presumption would last must depend upon all the associated circumstances.

The fact that a pauper's ancestor lived and had his home upon the territory of a town upon the day of its incorporation, thereby acquiring his settlement in such town, may be shown by circumstantial and presumptive evidence.

The town of Camden was incorporated on February 17, 1791. John Gordon, Jr., in a deed of October 12, 1786, describes himself as residing in the place afterwards incorporated. On April 15, 1791, the selectmen of Camden laid out a road "to John Gordon, Jr.'s, house," and the town accepted it. It appears from the town records and registry of deeds, that, for many years continuously after 1791, he was residing in Camden, dealing to some extent in real estate, and taxed for a considerable real and personal estate between 1801 and 1813, no lists of assessments or valuation being found of a date prior to 1801, and that at times during this period he held a minor office in town and in other respects performed acts that were to some extent indicative of citizenship. Aged witnesses remember him as living in Camden as long ago as their memories serve them, which would be somewhere at the beginning of the present century, and such persons do not remember, and there is nothing in the case to indicate, that he resided in any other place prior to 1813. Held, that these facts are prima facie proof that John Gordon, Jr., resided in Camden on the day of its incorporation, February 17, 1791. Held, also, that the presumption from such facts is that he was a citizen and not an alien. Held, further, that, inasmuch as the town was incorporated from a plantation, all citizens residing within its limits on the day of incorporation were made inhabitants with privileges alike and had a legal settlement therein.

A SUMMER DAY'S EXCURSION.

The day spent in the woods with a happy party and well filled lunch baskets is a joy long to be remembered, provided there are no infelicities or accidents to mar the festivity. But people will sometimes make mistakes in eating, and they may happen to tumble into the water and get soaked through and through. People who fall overboard should be dried and then rubbed with Perry Davis's Pain Killer, which will protect them against cold and rheumatism. Mr. Horatio M. Price, of Burlington, Vermont, says, as to the other troubles, "I have been attacked with cramps in my stomach and with cholera morbus. I tried a good many other remedies which failed, but 'Pain Killer' cured me. I have never found a remedy so efficient."

A BAPTIST MINISTER'S EXPERIENCE.

I am a Baptist Minister, and before I even thought of being a clergyman, I graduated in medicine but left a lucrative practice for my present profession. 40 years ago. I was for many years a sufferer from quinsy; "Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured me." I was also troubled with hoarseness, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil always relieved me. My wife and child had diphtheria, and Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured them, and if taken in time it will cure seven times out of ten. I am confident it is a cure for the most obstinate cold or cough, and if any one will take a small teaspoon and half fill it with the Oil, and then place the end of the spoon in one nostril and draw the Oil out of the spoon into the head by sniffing as hard as they can, until the Oil falls over into the throat, and practice that twice a week, I don't care how offensive their head may be, it will clean it out and cure their catarrh. For deafness and earache it has done wonders to my certain knowledge. It is the only medicine dubbed patent medicine that I have ever felt like recommending, and I am very anxious to see it in every place, for I tell you that I would not be without it in my house for any consideration. I am now suffering with a pain like rheumatism in my right limb, and nothing relieves me like Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

A LARGE PAYMENT.

[From the Daily Mercury, New Bedford, Mass., June 15, 1882.]

Francis E. Manley, Esq., Massachusetts Superintendent of Agencies of the Mutual Life Ins. Co. of New York, arrived in this city yesterday, bringing to the local agents Messrs. Lawrence Grinnel & Co., to be paid over to Mrs. Susan C. Nye, the company's check for $25,694, in full payment of a policy of $10,000, and dividend additions, held in the company, by our late esteemed citizen Capt Thomas Nye, Jr., who it will be remembered, took his own life a few weeks since. The policy was taken at the age of fifty and there were twenty-eight annual premiums paid of $464.20 each, amounting to $12,997.60; add compound interest at 4½ per cent., $12,059.57; total $25,057.17; and the amount paid by the company, exceeds the total premiums with interest $636.83, besides the value of the insurance for twenty-seven years of an amount increasing from $10,000 at the beginning to $25,694 at the close, while the annual dividends on the policy have exceeded the annual premiums for many years. Such astonishing results cannot fail to awaken a deep interest among our intelligent citizens, and we commend the company to their thoughtful attention. This action of the company does away with the bug-bear of non-payment of suicide claims, which has been so industriously circulated against them by rival agents of inferior companies.

It is with pleasure we append the following letter to the agents from Mrs. Nye:

NEW BEDFORD, June 14, 1882.

Messrs. Lawrence Grinnell & Co., Agents Mutual Life Ins. Company of New York:

Gentlemen—I have this day received through you a check for $25,694 in payment of policy No. 14,298 for $10,000, and additions held in your company by my late husband, Thomas Nye, Jr.

The evidence of the careful management of the company's business, as shown by the great increase of the original sum, is very gratifying, and their promptness in making the payment on the day when due is appreciated.

Yours very truly,
Susan C. Nye.

VOICES FROM THE PAST.

BY R. H. STODDARD.

[Read at Roseland Park, Woodstock, Conn., July 4th.]

I.

Beneath the blue arch of this perfect sky,
We gather on the Nation's Holiday,
And, while the rosy hours are going by,
We ponder what they bring and take away;
Mirth, music, and the little ones at play
Upon the dappled shadows of the trees.
Laugh on, light hearts! But we, whose heads are gray,
Though we may smile, have graver memories
Than can have crossed your minds in these bright days of Peace.

II.

Out of the travail of two hundred years
Rose this our Commonweal. Its growth was slow,
Our fathers sowed the seed with hopes and fears,
And poured out their best blood to make it grow
Beset with peril from the savage foe,
They went about their work, prepared to die,
For where the peril was they could not know,
Until its arrows hurtled suddenly by,
Or the smoke of their burning homes went darkly up the sky!

III.

The punishment they meted out was stern;
The sight of women and of children slain,
The thought of captives that would not return,
Hardened their breaking hearts to slay again.
One text the tenderest never read in vain
"Vengeance is mine!" Another they read less
"Father forgive them!" But one thing was plain—
That God was with them in their sore distress,
And answered their strong prayers in the vast wilderness.

IV.

They builded churches where to-day they stand,
Rude meeting houses rose up everywhere,
For all the people lent a helping hand,
And when the Sabbath bell summoned to prayer,
The worldliest put away their week day care,
And flocked from miles around to hear the Word!
And hither came a man with snowy hair,
Whose piteous heart was for the Indians stirred.
He preached, and they believed the holy things they heard

V.

And hither, when the storm of war had burst
Between the Mother Country and her sons,
Comes he whom History proclaims the first
In war and peace, the fiery rumor runs
The farmers quit their plows, and snatch their guns
To follow him through victory and defeat,
The red coat rabble, led by titled ones,
Goes down before them, like the swaths of wheat,
Fierce is the Summer sun, and sharp the Winter's sleet!

VI

These were the men—not men, but higher Powers—
Whose hardy sinews stiffening into steel,
Grappling with the Old World, made the New World ours,
The sure foundation of the Commonweal!
When we forget them, when we cease to feel
Their greatness and their glory, we are lost.
Silence the bells! Or ring a funeral peal—
We are no longer worth the blood we cost,
Better our fathers had sunk in the wild waves they crossed!

VII

Voices like these upon this peaceful day
Come like an echo from the troubled Past,
And other voices, not so far away,
And other eyes upon the Future cast,
Command us to be watchful, and hold fast
The ancient freedom of our winds and waves,
And of our fathers' spirits, lest at last,
We heap dishonor on our fathers' graves,
And curse our children with the heritage of slaves!

New York City, June 27th, 1882.

DENNYSVILLE, MAINE

THINGS NEW AND OLD—A DELIGHTFUL OLD INLAND SHORE TOWN—THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

[Correspondence of the Boston Journal.]

A quiet, restful, lovely old town, built on the banks of Denny's River, flooded at every tide and made thereby as beautiful as one could wish. The fine large willows and elms that line the banks and are seen in clumps all about the town, serving for shade and landscape, are noticeable by every one who steams or sails or oars it up through the village to find a resting place for the summer. The first noticeable place of interest in coming up the river is the Lincoln estate, the old home of General Lincoln of Revolutionary fame, who was selected to receive the sword surrendered by Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown. A large tract of land was given to him here by the Government, or rather it was given to General Knox, who made an exchange of this to Lincoln for his property located in what was afterward called Knox county. Judge Lincoln, the General's son, succeeded to the estate, and his sons Theodore, Edmund and Thomas fell into the line of successors, the latter of whom lives upon the place. Benjamin, a great-grandson of the General, was present at the Yorktown celebration last year as an invited guest, and received the honors of the occasion. At the extreme head of tide water is the residence of another old family, the Allans, who have been prominent, together with the Lincolns and Kilbys, Eastmans and Gardners, in the business and progress of the town, the main business being, or rather having been, lumbering, since of late it has been narrowed down to a fraction of its former amount. The fires and winds have made great havoc with the timber lands; and then the Western and Northern lumber, so easily conveyed across the country in any quantity, and of any and every kind and quality has made lumbering in this section less remunerative. The laws have been so hard upon ship-building that that method of conveying lumber along a dangerous coast to Boston and other ports has been very expensive, and yet several firms here have managed to do a fair business, and will for years to come. The Shore Line Railroad has the past year again shown some signs of life, and will yet stretch its lonely way through these Eastern forests and farms and villages to Calais, and on eastward, and westward to Bangor. The effect of this enterprise must be to build up the towns in industries, manufacturing and all sorts of business. Already, in anticipation of a prosperous future, wise men are forecasting, and have their eye upon water privileges. In Calais very extensive cotton and woolen factories are going up, inviting industries of other kinds as well, and giving an impetus to local improvements of every kind. But few small towns in the State have so fine water privileges as are to be found in this quiet place. The railroad has already been surveyed, and while it disturbs some of the lovers of quiet and of the old way of living, with nothing to molest or make afraid, most of the people seem to think that a railroad would bring wealth and prosperity to the town, and that it would have every chance of becoming a fine centre, not only for traffic and manufactories, but for residences, and for summer recreations as well. There would be attractions to the lovers of quiet and the seekers of absolute rest, and, also, for the many lovers of hunting and fishing. For the former there are boundless realms of wild land filled with partridge, deer, fox, bear and wolf, to such as like the fiercer game; and for the lover of angling there are river and lake and ocean in near proximity. There are Denny's River, and Cathance River, and Dead Stream, and the Rips for trout and perch and other pan fish; also Cathance Lake is a large and fine sheet of water, where loads of trout weighing four and five pounds have been caught, and Dennysville is the centre from which to radiate to these places, also Meddybemps Lake, grander and more fruitful than the others, comes within this circuit. And then, during the summer months, Denny's River is full of alewives, which come in schools, and are caught and smoked, and salted, and cured in various ways. But the salt water salmon are the great attraction. These fat monsters, so fine and nimble, come up the river to spawn, then go out to grow, and return with no expectation of what is to befall them. They are caught in nets, speared, and the past season ten have been secured with the fly, a new way, and most exhilarating to the one at the other end of the rod. There is a lively tussle when the bite comes in earnest from a fifteen or twenty pounder, and the shore is lined with men and women who anxiously look on to see which is to be master, until the shining salmon is landed in the bushes or on the grassy bank, and then a dozen boys and men rush to the rescue. About 100 fine salmon have been caught thus far this season, and have sold for about twenty cents a pound. Tourists from various quarters have in past years and will now more and more come to spend the summer. Whole families come and identify themselves with the villagers, going out in the harbor on sails and excursions, attending church together, and neighboring as taste and inclination may lead.

There is but one church in this town, the Orthodox Congregational, Rev. C. H. Whittier, cousin of the poet, pastor, who has been here a devoted and much loved minister for upward of twenty years, and is likely to remain the rest of his life. The morals of the place are of a high order, and social life is delightful. A public library has been started, which forms an intellectual nucleus, so valuable in quiet village life. A flourishing academy once existed, but for many years the building has been used as a vestry for the church. Congressman Rice was at one time the Principal of the school.

Two once flourishing business enterprises have also been given up, the tanneries, managed by the Lincolns, and the pail factories, carried on by the Eastmans. The business now receiving most attention is farming, which has the past three years taken a long stride in advance, and among this class the old Lincoln farm, Dr. Lincoln's new estate and N. S. Allan's farm are illustrations of what farming can become by the application of progressive ideas. Blooded stocks are also raised with profit, and there are some of the finest Jersey cows in the State in this little town.

The schools have generally had a high reputation, and the intelligence of the people is unsurpassed by any village in the county. Edmunds, a more quiet town, lies upon the right bank of the river, and supports a Methodist church and contains a few fine farms.

There has always been a good hotel in the place, the Allan House, which has a wide patronage, and is especially liked by tourists and commercial travelers, the proprietor, J. D. Allan, giving personal attention to his business.

But I must take leave of the subject and the town, being myself but an annual visitor, yet feeling that a few weeks in this glad oasis is as much a necessity each year as a good cup of coffee is each morning.

R.

W. WESTFALL,

Of Duchess Co., N. Y., 80 Years of Age, Suffered Continually for Many Years from Stone in the Bladder.

Great age and painful disease are a sad combination Yet Mr. William Westfall, formerly of Rock City, Duchess Co, N Y, now of Washington Hollow, in the same county, came to the office of Dr David Kennedy, the eminent Physician and Surgeon of Rondout, N Y, some time since, in a condition to excite the sympathy of the most cold blooded and hard hearted person in the world We say he came—he was, rather, carried to the Doctor's office, for he was totally helpless, and bore the weight of 80 years besides. He had suffered long from Retention of Urine, and had all the symptoms of an aggravated case of calculus formations in the bladder. The usual instrumental examination revealed the presence in the bladder of a urinary calculus of uncommon size Dr Kennedy frankly told Mr. Westfall that, owing to his age and debility, an operation was out of the question, but that he could, by the prescription of "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," together with local treatment, make him comfortable and leave him to live out all his days. The outcome of this was that the patient enjoys good health to this day

The Reasons Why

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" is being extensively used by our people are as follows It is a combination of vegetable alteratives It is pleasant to the taste, adapted to both sexes and all ages, is effective in affording immediate relief in all cases of Kidney troubles liver Complaints, Constipation of the Bowels and derangements peculiar to women At the same time purifies the blood, thus giving tone and strength to the system debilitated by disease or age "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" for sale by all druggists

[From Frank Leslie's Illustrated Newspaper.]

A LADY SAID

"Those Horrid Pimples! No, I Cannot Go. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two thirds of the ladies in society and homes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do away with which, if it could be done without injury, would be the happiest event of their lives. Then she would have instead of a disfigured and marred countenance, one that would be handsome, or at least good-looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter what the cut of her features are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract every body. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freckles," those horrid pimples," and other blemishes with which she is afflicted, and this is true of either sex

To improve this appearance great risks are taken, arsenic, mercury, or high-sound titled named articles containing these death-dealing drugs, are taken in hopes of getting rid of all these troubles In many cases, death is the result. No alleviation of the burning, heating, itching and inflammation is given. All troubled with Eczema (salt rheum), Tetters, Humors, Inflammation, Rough Scaly Eruptions of any kind, Diseases of the Hair and Scalp, Scrofula, Ulcers, Pimples or Tender Itchings on any part of the body, should know that there is hope for them in a sure, perfect and elegant remedy, known as "Dr. C W.
